From Lack to Excess: "minor" Readings of Latin American Colonial Discourse, Yolanda Martínez-San Miguel, Associated University Presse, 2008, 0838756999, 9780838756997, 241 pages. This book analyzes the narrative and rhetorical structures of Latin American colonial texts by establishing a dialogue with contemporary studies on minority discourse, minor literatures, and colonial and postcolonial theory. The first chapter reviews the current disciplinary debate between colonial Latin American studies and early modern, transatlantic, and postcolonial studies, paying attention to the epistemic and institutional junctures that explain the current reconfiguration of these fields of scholarship. As an alternative to an exhausted debate, this study uses Gilles Deleuze and Felix Guattari's notion of a "minor literature" along with current studies on minority discourse to propose new close readings of canonical texts by Hernan Cortes, Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, the Inca Garcilaso de la Vega, Carlos de Sigüenza y Góngora and Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz. Yolanda Martínez-San Miguel is Associate Professor of Romance Languages at the University of Pennsylvania..
