8 June-November 2011 PHOTO ESSAY Maryhill College, being a bit secluded from the huzzle and buzzle heart of the city, provides ample grounds for peaceful and quiet study. Through the years, MC remains to cultivate students' unique potential and in-depth academic capacity. As one walks through its long roofed pedestrian lane, you can notice the campus' well-established buildings carefully founded by busy hands and creative minds throughout the years. One beholds the refreshing coolness of green trees rarely found in institutions located in the city proper. Inside, live the peace-loving young dreamers that will soon be pride of the entire province or even the world. This is truly a paradise that encloses happiness, love and prosperity. Beyond the wall, on the other side of that same long roofed pedestrian await poverty-stricken fellow, almost dying at heart, losing hope for the misfortunes that befall on them. You can see them with eyes wide open but seemed invisible at all. You passed that lane almost every day but do you ever have time to eye on their sufferings? It's indeed ironical that within the seat

PHOTO ESSAY June-November 2011 9 of the Catholic faith spread those hope- less people sullied of the dayâ€™s work, selling sampaguita, candles and other stuffs to passers-by. Some lend an ear to their fruitless calling but most ignored. MC being run by mostly priests as its board of trustees patronizes charity works and humanitarian acts. Some of those fund-raising projects were the Pondo ng Pinoy, Tsinelas ni Maria, Mission Sunday, Red Cross, Alay- Kapwa and others. Indeed Marians, in the wall and off the wall have a very open heart for everyone because MC is an educational institution that aims to further enhance studentsâ€™ academic excellence, concern to the natural environment, response to the urgent issues of time, been evangelize evangelizer, and outstanding in humility, charity, fidelity, wisdom, justice and peace while maintaining its filial devotion to Mary. â€œJust be open to the call, and then you will hear the voice beyond the wallâ€•.
